Evans Officers Recognized for Heroic Acts

At the annual Evans Police Department Awards Event, four Officers were recognized for quick thinking actions that saved lives. We are proud to share those stories with you here.

Officer Schissler - Medal of Valor Award. This award is reserved for Officers when, in the line of duty, performs an act requiring exceptional courage and bravery in the presence of great danger or at great personal risk of life. On July 20, 2017 Officer Schissler was the first on scene to a single car motor vehicle accident where the driver was pinned inside his car which was engulfed in flames. Officer Schissler attempted to extinguish the flames with a fire extinguisher, but was unsuccessful. He then attempted to open the driver's side door, but found it to be too damaged to open. Determined to help the driver to safety, Officer Schissler used the driver's side rear door to access the driver's seatbelt and cut him free. A by passer who had stopped to help assisted Officer Schissler in getting the driver out of the car and move him to safety. Thinking and acting quickly in the face of an extremely dangerous situation, Officer Schissler was most certainly a hero on July 20.

Officer McCall – Life Saving Award. This award is reserved for Officers when he/she is responsible for the saving of a human life. On March 28, 2017 Officer McCall was dispatched to an unresponsive male at an Evans hotel to whom chest compressions were being administered. Prior to his arrival, Officer McCall had received information that the man had overdosed on an unknown narcotic. Officer McCall assumed control of the scene and checked the male's vitals to find he was not breathing and had no pulse. Officer McCall quickly administered a single dose of his department issued Narcan. The Narcan took immediate effect and the man started to regain consciousness. Due to Officer McCall's fast assessment and quick administration of Narcan, the man was brought back to life and could receive treatment. Had Officer McCall not have acted quickly, there is a high probability this man would not have survived.

Officers Gallegos and Villani – Life Saving Award. On May 15, 2017 Officers Gallegos and Villani were dispatched to an unresponsive female at an Evans hotel. The Officers had received information prior to their arrival that she had overdosed on an unknown narcotic. Upon arrival, the Officers found a woman lying on the floor of the hotel room and they quickly determined she had no pulse and was not breathing. Officer Gallegos administered a single dose of his department issued Narcan while Officer Villani held onto her in case she had a violent reaction upon the reversal. The Narcan took immediate effect and she began to regain consciousness. Due to both Officer Gallegos and Officer Villani's fast assessment and quick administration of the Narcan, this woman was brought back to life and could receive treatment. Without the quick and thorough actions of Officers Gallegos and Villani, this woman may very well have lost her life.

We are so proud of our officers!
